

There are numerous dive sites in St Lucia, from beginning to advanced. Most of them are in the south, near the villa.

We've listed only the two nearby dive shops since the other dive shops are a long drive away. We have included SNUBA and Sea Trek, which is offered only in the north, at Pigeon Island, about a 90-minute drive away.

Please note that prices quoted were gathered in January 2020 from websites and may not be accurate for your visit. Drive times are approximate. Italics designate descriptions from websites or other reviewers' comments.

Lucia offers great diving and comprehensive facilities for divers of all levels. Perfectly set up for both beach and boat dives, Scuba St. Lucia offers guests gear storage; a well-equipped scuba store; three compressors; rental dive gear and an underwater Photo and Video center.

Do you want to experience the coral spawning? It's been described as a snowfall that goes upward! You can at Anse Chastanet with SCUBA St Lucia. The best time to see it is early evening a week or two after a full August moon.

If night snorkeling is something you always wanted to do (I've done it on Bonaire – it's incredible!), SCUBA St Lucia offers a guided night snorkel on Monday and Wednesday night.

The snorkeling boat travels out morning and afternoon every day except Sunday. We've heard the boats go to either the base of the Pitons (Sugar Beach/Anse de Pitons) or Anse Cochon (Ti Kaye). We suggest you take their boat trip to Anse Cochon but use our driver or a water taxi to go to Sugar Beach.

Although SCUBA St Lucia primarily caters to guests of Jade Mountain Resort and Anse Chastanet Resort, they welcome non-resident guests to dive with them, space permitting.
